

ABSTRACT

An easy to open plastic film bag (1) provided with overlying front and rear walls (2, 3) joined 5 by means of inwardly extending lateral gussets (5, 6) each constituted by two panels (7, 9 and 8, 10) having different widths such that the front and rear walls are laterally offset distances d1 and d2 to form two lateral strip-like zones (17, 18) between the lateral edges (15, 16) of the rear wall and the corresponding lateral edges (13, 14) of the front wall, said lateral zones being intended for being gripped and pulled away from one another to open 10 the mouth of the bag.
(Figs. 1 and 3)